MADISON, Wis., Nov. 22.—The condition of William H. Gloger, Watertown, a student at the university, who sustained serious injuries on Saturday when the north bleachers at Camp Randall fell during the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game, is reported much improved today. He will recover. All of the other injured at local hospitals have been discharged.

Residents of La Crosse, who attended the football game at Madison Saturday between Minnesota and Wisconsin, escaped injuries when the north bleachers collapsed, carrying to the ground more than 2,500 people, as far as can be learned today, although a number were said to have been in the stand when it fell.

There were no fatalities, although a number were rushed to hospitals. The most seriously injured is William H. Gloger, a junior student at the university from Watertown, Wis., who suffered internal injuries. His conditions was expected to be determined today by physicians who are watching him closely at the General hospital. He suffers excruciating pains, and the attending physicians say that his case is the only one about which they are apprehensive. He was caught between the falling timbers and pinioned.

Collapse Slow
The stands collapsed slowly, according to several local residents who were at the game, a circumstance which alone prevented a greater toll of injured. The bleachers, which were rented from the McHugh company of Chicago for the Minnesota-Wisconsin game only, were erected on plank bottoms according to advice. The stand, according to La Crosse people, appeared to slide off the bottoms, caused, it is thought, by a concerted movement among the spectators at a tense moment of the game. When the stands began to fall, a subdued exclamation burst from the spectators in the stand, but not a scream was audible. The temporary bleachers, shortly after the first evidence of a collapse, parted in the middle, those seated on the ends of the planks being thrown several feet into the air as the mass converged toward the center. Gloger was seated in the center of the stands, and was caught in the falling timbers.

Miss Margaret Heyerdahl, 302 North Eighth street, was in the stand when it collapsed, as were Harold Jacobs, Lester Smith and Arthur Schubert, local students at the university. Pat Lunney and Ralph Kindley were also among the spectators in the stand. None of them were injured, so far as can be learned. Miss Heyerdahl was the guest of relatives in Madison. Miss Hazel Foster, a member of the local high school faculty, was but a few feet from the bleachers that collapsed, while Miss Hester Jacobs, also of the faculty, was on the south side of the field.

Many at Game
Other local people who were at the game were: Misses Helen Looney, Bertha Cleveland, a teacher in the Washington school; Edith Newburg, Irma Holmes, Margery Keeler, Elizabeth Wolfe, Caroline Schweizer and Laura Gilman, formerly of La Crosse but now located at Madison; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hirschheimer and sons, Earl and Albert; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweizer, R. F. Keeler and son Ray, captain of last year's Wisconsin football team; Attorney James Thompson, Giles Flanagan, J. E. Higbee, Mrs. Bertha W. Young, Miss Laura A. Sullivan, Dr. Edward Evans, Miss Mertie Hayes and Kenneth Salzer.

Among the local students who fell with the bleachers were Herman Egstad, Reuben Thompson, Herman Hanson, Arthur Euler, Fred Reimers, Julius Marquardt and James Downey. They escaped injury.

Miss Moseley, aunt to Miss Laura Gilman, fell with the bleachers and was injured but slightly.

President Helps the Injured
President Charles Van Hise of the university, was one of the first to render assistance to the injured. No reason for the collapse of the temporary wooden bleachers, which form-

"BIRTH OF NATION" PLAYED BY DIXON IN SUNDAY SERMON

PRaises BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

Calis Attention to the Fact That Blacks Are But Few Generations from Cannibal Ancestors

The "Birth of a Nation," which was shown at the Majestic theater last week, together with the death of Booker T. Washington, the noted Negro leader and educator who founded the famous Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, was the theme of the sermon of Rev. E. C. Dixon, pastor of the First Methodist church, last night. Rev. Dixon declared that the negroes were misrepresented in the film play, and although he did not actually appear on the screen, Booker T. Washington, he said, was a vital part of the "Birth of a Nation."

Hits Sunday Show

Mr. Dixon observed in passing that while the picture show on Sunday was an abomination being contrary to state law to say nothing of its bad influence religiously, and while many of them were very evil because of their character, yet they were like concerts or lectures, to be judged by what they really brought to the mind through the eye as these others by what they brought through the ear. "The great picture based on Thos. Dixon's story, 'The Clansman,' said Rev. Dixon, 'presented much that was artistic, beautiful and instructive, undoubtedly being in large part true historically to the events of those terrible years in our history from 1860 to 1875. The main difficulty was that the picture showed as fact much that must have been extreme imagination and of a sort to continue harmful prejudice. This is not surprising in the case of one into whose soul the horrors of war and the reconstruction period have been burned but the other side should be brought to our attention."

Klan is Objected to

"In a word, all seemed true except to life except the depiction of the Ku Klux Klan and the Negro. 'Few seem to realize whence the Negro came. From Africa of course, but that the slaves were the captives of cannibal races taken in tribal wars, that men of cannibal races are still living in America and that the vast majority are but three or four generations from cannibal ancestors, is seldom realized."

"With cannibals for raw material slavery wrought to render as nearly impossible as might be the humanizing of a race. The marriage relation among slaves was an utter mockery and yet it is historic, amazing as is the fact, that no case is known of the violation of any white woman's honor by any slave during the war, though millions of slave men were in full control of plantation affairs while all the whites were in the army. While such characters as 'Gus, the renegade' and Silas Lynch could probably be found they represent no general class among negroes and the fear of general intermarriage of whites and blacks is wholly a hallucination. Of the several million mulattoes possibly one in a thousand has a white mother. The fathers were these same southern white men who tell us they fear intermarriage. There is seven times the crime against women by whites in Chicago that there is in all America by negroes."

Dynamite Found On Estate Of Standard Oil President

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 22.—That four sticks of dynamite, with wire and caps, wrapped in paper, were found Saturday on the estate of John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, became known on Sunday when the financier issued instructions to increase the number of guards.

Tarrytown was an armed camp today as the result of the attempt on the life of Archbold.

Fearing further bomb plots, other wealthy New Yorkers with country mansions here stationed extra forces of guards around their estates. The police questioned all strangers approaching either the Archbold place or the estate of John D. Rockefeller.

New York detectives came to Tarrytown today and obtained from the police a meager description of a man seen lurking near the Archbold estate a few hours before a dynamite bomb was found in the driveway. They said they believed the tall, slender man seen near the front entrance to the Archbold grounds will prove to be a member of a New York band of anarchists.

Enough dynamite, with percussion caps attached, was placed in the driveway to have blown a vehicle and its occupants to bits. Only the fact that the Standard Oil president went on his yacht Saturday afternoon instead of taking a motor ride, saved his life, according to members of the Archbold household.

WOULD PAY FOR LIVES LOST ON THE LUSITANIA?

Report Is Bernstorff Made Offer of Indemnity to Secretary
Lansing

DISAVOWAL OF ACT REFUSED

It Is Understood Attempts Are Made to Shift Part of Responsibility to British

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—Germany has agreed to pay to the United States an indemnity for the 115 American lives lost when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine last May. Germany, however, refuses to apologize to the United States for the sinking of the liner.

This information was received from a source of unimpeachable authority. It transpires that Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, offered the indemnity at his conference with Secretary of State Lansing last week. At the same time he transmitted the refusal of the German government to make the disavowal demanded by President Wilson. It is said by persons conversant with the Lusitania negotiations that the Berlin government is seeking to unload some of the moral responsibility on Great Britain.

It is stated that families which lost members on the Lusitania have been approached by emissaries of the German government with a proposal to sign a statement that they regard the British government fully as liable as Germany for the killing of American passengers on the liner. The Germans maintain that Great Britain shares in the responsibility for the destruction of the Lusitania because the British government insisted on transporting war munitions on a passenger vessel carrying Americans.

It transpires that the offer to pay an indemnity for the 115 Americans lost on the Lusitania was made to Mr. Lansing by Count von Bernstorff without reservation. No question of arbitration is involved in the phase of the matter pertaining to reparation. Germany is prepared to pay an indemnity to the United States regardless of the disputed question of the justification of the submarine commander in torpedoing the liner without warning.

Boat German Says Ancona Captain

A submarine of German and not Austrian nationality sunk the liner Ancona, according to a statement of the Ancona captain, received today by the state department from American Ambassador Page at Rome.

Secretary of State Lansing said there was no evidence to support the captain's charges.

The report raised anew, however, the question of the submarine's nationality, as it affects the American government's future action.

DR. EDWARD EVANS UNAFRAID OF THE PROSPECTIVE SUIT

He Says Remarks Made at Milwaukee Were Not Directed at Dr.
Hoffman

Dr. Norman Hoffman, superintendent of the Wales Tuberculosis sanitarium, has instructed attorneys to institute suit for $25,000 against Dr. Edward Evans of La Crosse for alleged derogatory remarks made Friday night before the meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis society in Milwaukee, according to the Milwaukee Free Press. Dr. Evans today was non-committal, beyond the statement that he was "not worried." The remarks, he said, were made against the state board of control, and not against Doctor Hoffman. He says he has not been instructed of the proceedings, which, it is claimed, were to have been started today.

ASSESSORS' PAY TOO HIGH CLAIMS ALDERMAN MAHONEY

He Says La Crosse Taxpayers Pay Far Too Much to Have Property
Appraised

COMPARISON BAD HE SAYS

Statistics Show This City Pays More Than Any Other Town in State
Except Milwaukee

La Crosse taxpayers pay exorbitantly for being assessed. That is the essence of the paper addressed by Alderman Paul W. Mahoney to the editor of the TRIBUNE relative to the recent controversy in the city council. In it he voices his opposition to the hiring of special assessors and shows, by statistics, that this city is far ahead of other cities of the state excepting Milwaukee in the matter of salaries paid its men who appraise values.

The Paper follows:

"Editor THE TRIBUNE:

"Dear Sir: Believing that the taxpayers are interested in the way that the city government is conducted, I have taken the trouble to investigate the question of the salaries of the assessors and have tabulated the returns received from other cities on the subject which you will find here-with."

"My reasons for taking the trouble to investigate this subject and give you the benefit of my investigation are these:

"On several occasions lately I have opposed the illegal expenditure of city money. At the last meeting of the common council a resolution presented by Alderman Smith for the payment of the disbursements of a junketing committee was rushed through the council with only my vote in opposition, although the city attorney declared it illegal. Another resolution introduced by Alderman Smith, also declared illegal by the city attorney, provided for the hiring of the assessors for the balance of the fiscal year, to wit: January, February, March and April at a salary of five hundred dollars each over and above the salary provided in the salary list adopted prior to the last election. I opposed this resolution and on this stood alone.

"In the latter part of the year 1914 Alderman Houska introduced a resolution to hire the assessors for the balance of the year up to the end of their term at an additional salary of three hundred dollars each. The argument used at the time was that the assessors would be given time to go over most of the city property, especially real estate and merchants' stocks and be ready so that when the new term began for making assessments these assessors would be thoroughly posted and would be more competent to discharge their duties. 'This resolution was referred to the finance committee composed of Smith, Torrance and Houska. They reported favorably on the resolution at the regular meeting in December, 1914. I opposed that resolution because we had just had the services of the assessor for the year and I thought we had gone far enough but the resolution was adopted by a vote of twenty to one. I voted in the negative.

"Thinking probably I might have been mistaken in the attitude that I have assumed as to it being unnecessary to employ the assessors continually one year after another in view of the fact that we had a tax commissioner, whose time was all employed, I addressed a letter to the city clerk of the fifteen larger cities in the state outside of La Crosse and Milwaukee containing these questions: 'Have you a tax commissioner, and at what salary? How many assessors do you employ and at what salary?' In every instance not a single city answered that they employed a tax commissioner. Following is a tabulated statement, showing that La Crosse is employing these two assessors for the entire year and is paying, with two exceptions, more than double and sometimes triple the amount paid by any other city for having the assessment made:

SHALL THE CITY SELL MARKET FOR BUILDING? THE OFFER IS FINE

Shall the city sell the market square? The question came unexpectedly before the council on Friday, and was relegated for discussion at some future time after Mayor Bentley had announced "There is a legitimate offer for the market square in my hands. If it is the decision of the council to sell it, we can get a very fine price for it."

The proposition was brought up by Alderman Adam Kroner. "The property we are using for a market is too valuable for the use we have for it," he said. "We could get a good price for it, because property in the downtown district is in great demand. There is not a vacant store in the downtown district, and when concerns are forced to move they are put to it to find a place. I understand there is a man who wants to build on the market, and I think we ought to sell it."

Alderman Kroner suggested converting Cameron park into a market, but it was pointed out that the ground is dedicated to park purposes, and the city cannot put it to any other use.

A market on the causeway, north of the Standard Oil company plant, was also suggested.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—A crushing Serbian defeat of the Bulgarians at Leskovac was announced by the Serb legation today, confirmation of unofficial advices from Rome Sunday night.

The story was received regretfully in military circles as a seeming impossibility. The Serbs may have won a small skirmish, experts said, but they pointed out that the Bulgars are in great strength in the Leskovac region, twenty miles south of Nish, while the Serbs except perhaps for a few guerrilla bands, have been driven fifty miles to the westward.

VIENNA, via Berlin and London,

This is preliminary to a general en-the enemy southward in disorder.

country permit.

Occupation by General Von Koe-

Greek Cabinet Expresses

sels Have Been Stopped and Searched by the British

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Decision by Greece whether or not the demands of the entente allies of immediate participation in the war on the side of the allies or demoralization of the Greek army shall be complied with is expected soon.

This decision is awaited despite the fact that the Greek cabinet, which met to consider the situation, merely reaffirmed its friendliness to the allies and did not take the steps required to prevent Greece from being counted among the friends of Teuton powers.

The entente allies will not permit any delay; the position of the Serbian armies makes any prolongation of the present uncertainty impossible. Already the Serbians are making what may be their last stand before Monastir and also on the plains of Kosovo.

Outcome Doubtful

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The outcome of the entente and German powers' struggle to control Greece's Balkan policy is as doubtful as ever today.

Just how far the allies have gone or will go with their Greek "commercial and economic blockade" has not been made public officially. Unofficial news that allied warships were searching Greek merchantmen in the Mediterranean was an unexpected development. It is taken as meaning that a literal blockade has been established.

The announcement by the British legation in Athens was that the allies had deemed it necessary to take certain measures which will have the effect of suspending the economic and commercial facilities which Greece has received from them heretofore.

Whether this meant merely detention of Greek ships which visited British or French ports, or an actual blockade of the Greek coast was not explained.

Indications today are thought to be that the latter was referred to.

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A GENTLEMAN FROM SPAIN

BY IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

If there had not been eight thousand in the savings bank over in New Jersey Jess said she would feel different, but what on earth was the use of grubbing all your life when you had enough to rest on?

Jess pouted and stared out at the bifurcated view of Washington Square visible from the basement windows. She was tired of the bifurcated view and the passing half sections of humans, tired of the dark back rooms of the janitor's flat, tired of being part of the janitor's family, tired of the whole thing, and the eight thousand in the savings in the bank over in Jersey looked like the door key into Paradise.

"We could get a little apartment uptown and I'll work—"

"And what would you work at, darling?" blandly from her mother.

"I don't know. I'd like to be a buyer. They're treated awfully well and they get a chance to travel. I just hate New York."

"And what would you do with Barty?" asked Mr. Avery. "He wouldn't give up a growing business to go off on a wild goose chase with you, Jess."

He could stay where he is. I don't want to marry a fireman."

"There's a widow's pension goes with it, Jess, mind," her mother said soothingly. "And Barty's a fine lad altogether. It's a sight better than watching from that window for Mr. Delgado to show up again."

Jess flushed slowly, leaning her chin on her hand. It was a pretty chin and it was a pretty hand. She had not lived her life out down in the basement by a long shot. From six to fifteen she had been in a convent up the Hudson, and when she gave the girls her address she always said she lived down in the old Washington Square studio district, which was quite true; but she did not act that her father was a janitor.

Always they had accused her of building castles in Spain and longing for the things she could never have. It had been a joke for years—Jess and her high-flying notions—and then out of the blue sky almost there had dropped a real live gentleman from Spain, Antonio Delgado, an artist who took the third floor studio, paid his rent in advance and acted like a grandee.

Before his coming, Jess had gone out for an evening walk with Barty now and then when he was off duty, and had even taken in the theaters with him, or an occasional trip to the beach, but one day when she was sweeping the basement steps Mr. Delgado had stopped at the little iron grill gate to ask if the mail had come, and Jess had told him she would take it up to the studio for him.

"Ah, no, senorita, not at all," he had declined. "I will myself descend for it. It is not for you to come so far. I thank you."

The whole world turned a somersault for Jess right there and then. Here was one human being who recognized at a glance that she did not belong to the basement stratum. When the postman whistled, Mr. Delgado came leisurely down and received his mail, and he bowed to her and smiled.

Later on, out in the little flagged back courtyard, Jess heard him singing in Spanish, and it was "La Paloma." Nearly every day he sang it, and it became the uplift of the day to Jess, the rich, caressing notes and tender Spanish syllables. After that she could not go out with Barty—not with "La Paloma" ringing in her ears and the Delgado manners as a criterion of good taste to measure Barty by.

One day she was directing the vacuum-cleaner man around the house, and came to the studio. She opened the door with a pass key and entered with a fast-beating heart. Here was the inner shrine of his personality. While the man worked, she looked around. And it seemed wise to put away the choicest bits of

"He's not had visitors before," Mrs. Avery speculated.

Jess was silent. Vaguely he castle in Spain was taking shape, and she glided through its black and white marble corridors and watched from its terraces for Senor Delgado, or would they call him Don, she wondered dreamily.

It was about three minutes after the ascent of the two callers when there came a smothered explosion from the third floor studio. Somebody turned in a fire alarm at the corner, and it was Barty's company from over on Greenwich street that responded. Jess stood down in the hall when he passed by and he stopped just long enough to say, "The bulls got Delgado."

She had seen it herself—her grandee with a handcuff on one wrist, passing out of the house in custody. Her father was busy telling the policeman about it and she heard, Delgado was a receiver of stolen goods. He melted it up neatly into ingots in his tiny little light-housekeeping utensils, and his name was not Delgado. It was "Guiney Jack."

Somewhere at her feet lay the gardenia. Unconsciously, Jess's arms were like her mother's when Mrs. Avery was on the offensive—akimbo a la County Limerick.

Smoky and dripping, Barty was the last to leave, after the firemen had extinguished the blaze Mr. Delgado had started by trying to ignite the alcohol and escape in the excitement. He paused beside Jess.

"How about the movies tomorrow night, girl?" he asked.

"I like to go," Jess smiled back. The castle in Spain became a mirage. It seemed good to strike earth again. Barty's foot crushed a gardenia as he gave her hand a squeeze and followed the rest out.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind. I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

bric-a-brac that were exposed. There was a large inner cabinet closet between the studio and bed-room. She opened its doors delicately and stared. Could the grandee be doing light housekeeping? There was what seemed to be an alcohol stove, but of a strange pattern, also some peculiar bowls of dark metal, much burned, and other things, including bottles full of liquids like photographic chemicals. All were rather mysterious. And while she stood irresolute the gentleman from Spain walked in. His eyebrows lifted slightly at the sight of her. He seemed surprised—more, grieved. Jess was all blushes and anxiety, as she explained.

His tone was soothing.

"It is nothing, senorita. It was the dazle of sunlight in my poor studio that bewildered me for the instant. I thank you. I kiss your hand in token."

Now Jess had never had her hand kissed before, and she went out a queen. When he brought her a gardenia that evening it seemed all part of the new wonder of life, a single gardenia given with such a bow and look. Jess was standing out on the front steps listening to the band over in the square, and she lifted the flower to her nostrils, inhaling its perfume luxuriously after he had gone up.

My, its hot, ain't it, Jess?" said Mrs. Avery, coming heavily up out of the basement for a breath of air.

"And why didn't you come help do the dishes?"

"I forgot, mother. I'm sorry."

"Where did you get the flower?"

"Mr. Delgado," Jess tried to be nonchalant. Mrs. Avery smiled at her tolerantly.

"Don't be encouraging at all, Jess. I'd rather hand over the eight thousand to you and Barty and let you go into business with it."

"Than what, mother?" Jess dimpled provocatively.

But just at this moment two strange gentlemen paused at the steps and inquired for Mr. Delgado.

"He's not had visitors before," Mrs. Avery speculated.

Jess was silent. Vaguely he castle in Spain was taking shape, and she glided through its black and white marble corridors and watched from its terraces for Senor Delgado, or would they call him Don, she wondered dreamily.

It was about three minutes after the ascent of the two callers when there came a smothered explosion from the third floor studio. Somebody turned in a fire alarm at the corner, and it was Barty's company from over on Greenwich street that responded. Jess stood down in the hall when he passed by and he stopped just long enough to say, "The bulls got Delgado."

She had seen it herself—her grandee with a handcuff on one wrist, passing out of the house in custody. Her father was busy telling the policeman about it and she heard, Delgado was a receiver of stolen goods. He melted it up neatly into ingots in his tiny little light-housekeeping utensils, and his name was not Delgado. It was "Guiney Jack."

Somewhere at her feet lay the gardenia. Unconsciously, Jess's arms were like her mother's when Mrs. Avery was on the offensive—akimbo a la County Limerick.

Smoky and dripping, Barty was the last to leave, after the firemen had extinguished the blaze Mr. Delgado had started by trying to ignite the alcohol and escape in the excitement. He paused beside Jess.

"How about the movies tomorrow night, girl?" he asked.

"I like to go," Jess smiled back. The castle in Spain became a mirage. It seemed good to strike earth again. Barty's foot crushed a gardenia as he gave her hand a squeeze and followed the rest out.

Men have managed to mount the ladder of fame by hanging on to the coat tails of others.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Bibbly Wah Waves Her Red Mittens at Turkey Gobbler.

EVERY Thanksgiving all the family used to go to spend the holiday at Uncle Ben's farm. Daddy began when Jack and Evelyn teased for a story. "So he always had a turkey gobbler that Anne and Hank spent a great deal of time feeding well, so that the boys and Bibbly Wah could have all the good turkey they wanted when they came visiting."

"This year the gobbler was especially big and proud and strutting, and he was so tame that he would stalk right up to Anne's kitchen door and bolt mush and bread right out of her kind old hand. Then he would unfurl his spotted tail feathers, dig his handsome wings into the path and turn and strut till his silly head grew red as a beet and his throat became a beautiful blue."

"Now, besides reading her paper by candle light once a week, Anne's chief pleasure was to knit the three children plenty of red mittens for snowballing season. Just about a week before Mr. Turkey Gobbler had to give up his strutting for the pleasure of the family Bibbly Wah put on her little red mittens and went out to play in the yard. 'Gobble, gobble, gobble!' the proud turkey greeted her. Then he stretched his strong wings, ruffled his neck and out a circle right close around the surprised Bibbly Wah."

"Was she scared?" Evelyn grinned.

"No, she knew him too well. But she picked up a little stick and shook it at him. 'If you dare come any nearer!' she told him, waving her red mittens at him. 'Gobble, gobble, gobble!' shouted Mr. Turkey at the mittens. And he struck out his spurs and dashed right at them."

"This time Bibbly Wah was afraid, and she ran as fast as her chubby little legs let her. Mr. Turkey ran also, dragging his handsome, strong wings in the dirt, and sometimes when Bibbly Wah outran him he used them to fly. But she always kept looking back over her shoulder at him, and when she saw him skimming along on the ground, half on his feet and half on his wings, she decided it was time for her to bolt."

"Where did she go?" cried Jack.

"The nearest safe place—right up the side of Uncle Ben's big woodpile," said daddy. "How she did scramble up the sticks! Some slipped, and she fell back, but she could climb faster than Mr. Turkey Gobbler could. She never stopped till she reached the very top of the pile, and there Anne found her half an hour later throwing sticks at the gobbling, red ruffled, excited young bird that was going on to Anne's biggest platter the next week, with his brown, plump body all wreathed around with parsley, while three hungry children waited politely for Uncle Ben to say, 'Light or dark meat, my dear?'"

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Whatever improves bodily conditions in general aids digestion. Cheerfulness, exercise, fresh air, baths and good habits make your digestion better able to take care of any burdens you impose upon it. But the greatest aid to good digestion is good blood. Anemia, or thin blood, is a common cause of indigestion. Normal action of the stomach is impossible without healthy, well-oxygenated blood.

Dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment may be quickly corrected when the blood is enriched. Many people have secured relief from chronic forms of indigestion by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make the blood rich and red, capable of carrying an increased amount of oxygen, the great supporter of human life.

Have you ever seriously considered giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial to tone up your digestion, increase your vitality and make life better worth living? If your blood is thin and your digestion weak you certainly need them. Send for a diet book. It is free and will help you decide.

Notary Public.NOT WITHOUT POSSIBILITIESGovernor Philipp's interview in Chicago contained the assertion that "Bob" would undoubtedly make the present railroad commission of Wisconsin a target for attack in the senator's coming campaign."I would not be surprised if the next political issue in Wisconsin would be against the railroad commission," he said. "There is a propaganda under the leadership of an alleged great statesman, who sees the same causes that existed in 1904 upon which he floated to greatness and he is going to try the same ship again, but this time we have a commission. He cannot go out and agitate for a commission, so, of course, he has got to go out and agitate against a commission."The present commission is composed of Halford Erickson, chairman, appointed during the progressive regime. The other members are Walter B. Alexander, formerly an official of the Milwaukee railroad, and Russell Jackson, a corporation attorney, both named by the present governor.We have no quarrel with the governor's appointees as men. They are citizens of an important and useful class. But we most seriously object to them as members of the railroad commission. Men whose experience has been gained in the pay of the corporations, schooled to think out ways and means to advance the interests of corporations, can hardly be expected entirely to discard the motives and habits of thought acquired through faithful service. With every intent to be fair and honest,their natural tendency must be to think as they have always thought.Thus, modeled by their life-work for corporations, they are not the men who should stand between the corporations and the people as arbiters of respective rights.Nor do we believe that the commission, even as constituted of old, fails to present a target for the shafts of popular distrust. We find in the law no authority for recognition of going values as an element of physical valuation. Indeed, the law seems to have been framed with the purpose of excluding franchise values. Yet the commission has read them into the law, and rates paid by the public are based upon inflated values so appraised.DISTINCTLY A TRIUMPHWe confess to being as tickled as the most tickled "kid" in the high school, over that wonderful game Saturday.With conditions against our boys—for the muddy field favored the heavier St. Paul team and grossly handicapped our fast-smashing backs—the locals had the ball in St. Paul's territory most of the time. That on a fast field, they would have scored from the vantage which repeatedly they enjoyed as far down as the twenty-yard line, is more than probable.That was a triumph. It can not be denied that we had a shade the better of a team that alone stood before us as a serious contender for the championship of three states. It speaks well of our sportsmanship, our training, our nerve and energy.
It makes our high school stand out as a place of successes, for achievements of brawn and brain go hand in hand.We like also the sportsmanship of the La Crosse public, their city sense, the sort of patriotism that pays as well as applauds.So much for the past with its excellent record. Now for Madison, and the state championship.KILL TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONEAll this week, at the Majestic, the price of your tickets goes to the Y.
W. C. A. home. Only actual expenses are deducted, the net proceeds being turned over to the directors of the institution.Never have better pictures been shown. The entertainment is clean, strong, carrying messages of importance and deep human interest. Than "The Rosary" and Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot," no greater film plays are on the road. You'd want to go, anyway, but there's an added reason now. If ever you go to moving picture shows, you should attend these both because of what you get for your money and the good your money will do for an institution of immense value to society in this community.ETCHINGS PROVE MOST INTERESTINGThe exhibit of etchings and the sketches of one of "Life's" celebrated cartoonists, now open at the public library, justifies the interest it is attracting. It is the first La Crosse exhibit in these lines of art, and it presents some of the best work of many of the truly great men of the times, while Mr. Watson's contribution from the work of women etch-ers adds to the variety and interest.

LIBERTY BELL IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS Mo., Nov. 22.—More than 100,000 persons paid homage to the Liberty bell yesterday when the relic, arriving directly from Paducah, Ky., on its way back to Philadelphia from San Francisco, was placed on exhibition for a short time.
Three thousand soldiers and ex-soldiers marched. The bell was shown from my great-grandfather."

and Wanton Wiles

The Old Woman

Old and bent is she

As if life had beat her down;

There is nothing much to see

In her smile or frown.

With her frayed-out market basket

In her bony hand,

Is she anything—I ask it—

One could understand?

There perhaps is this:

She was once a bride, they say,

And received the nuptial kiss

On a wondrous day.

But her lips, could they have been Ever red and sweet?

Lives there any who has seen

Hers with others meet?

Mother she was, too.

But her children all have left her.

What is left for her to do?

Life has given, and bereft her.

There is something terrible

In that stiff droop of her head,

As if all the graves were full,

And one lived but to be dead.

Wrapt in mystery—

Mystery of ages and woes—

Hobbling slow and painfully

Down the street she goes.

Doubting she could hear,

Near I drew with cheerful stir,

Gently said, "Good morning, dear!"

And—O God—the smile of her.

The Pure Strain

"Algernon," said Angelina, "If you want to please me really and truly buy me two or three canaries. But I want the best, the very best, you know."

So Algernon went to a bird fan-cier and told his tale."Yes, sir," said the dealer in confidence, "you might have gone to many and been swindled. But these are pure canaries, sir, and I raised them myself from the very best canary seed."Algernon bought them and Angelina was satisfied.

A butcher tells the story of a the other day and addressed him thus:

"I bought three or four hams here a month or so ago, and they were fine. Have you any more of them?"

"Yes, ma'am," said the butcher.

"There are ten of those hams hangman, "if you are sure they're off the same pig I'll take three of them."

tub."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A public man can go right along creating the impression that he is a substantial, dignified person, until some motion picture man swings along and gets him to "pose." Then he looks grumpy, or deprecatory, or sheepish, or pompous, or idiotic, or a little of all of 'em—and the world has got his number!

Cause for Sorrow

"Why do ye look so sorrowful,

Moley?" asked one man of another.

"I just hear-r-d wan man call another a liar and the man that was called a liar said the other mn would have to apologize or there would be a fight."

"And why should that make you look so sad?"

"The other man apologized."

The Child—I made thirteen mistakes in my spelling lesson.

would have made more myself.

The Child—Oh, no, you wouldn't.

There were only thirteen words.

Plenty of Material

Willie Wheeler, the popular comedian, was visiting a large military hospital for the purpose of cheering up the patients.

Walking through the grounds,

where wounded soldiers on crutches were much in evidence, Wheeler turned to his khaki-clad guide and remarked, solemnly:

"I say, there ought to be plenty of beer in this hospital."

"Why, how's that?" asked the surprised Tommy, knowing that this particular hospital had no canteen at all.

"Well," responded the irrepressible Willie Wheeler, heartlessly,

"there are enough hops about!"— Titbits.

The Cause

"Are you going to the exposition?"

"Nope; can't afford it."

"But your wife bought an entire new outfit to wear at the exposition."

"That's why we can't afford it."

to state that you never got the meals on time. I wonder how I can put it

DIME NOVELS FOR GIRLS HARMFUL AS THOSE FOR YOUTHS

La Crosse Librarian Plays Cheap Stories Which Uphold False Standards

"ELSIE BOOKS" ARE ARRANGED

They Tend to Give a Morbid Tone to Minds of the Readers Impressed by Their Priggishness

Boys are not the only ones whose mental welfare is threatened by books of the "dime novel" type dressed up respectably, according to Miss Lillian Borreson, librarian at the public library. In a second article, following her discussion of the modern Nick Carter tale which masquerades as a "Boy Scout story," Miss Borreson flays the trashy story for girls. Here is what the librarian has to say:

Girl Problem Too

"A preceding article has given some idea of what the Boy Scout management is trying to do in the way of improving the reading of boys. But how about our girls? Who will deny that in this age, no matter what may have been true in the past, there is a girl problem as well as a boy problem? The heroines of the cheap series for girls differ from the average girl who reads them only in that they possess more beautiful and costly clothes, have more boy admirers and escape more fortunately from their boarding school escapades. What shall be said of a book in which two poor girls of fourteen and sixteen attend balls and yacht parties given by the exclusive set of Newport, or one in which a girl says she has 'a perfectly crazy desire to excite love.' Do such books help or hinder the development of the habit of straight thinking? The harmful juvenile books—not love stories—for girls are rarely printed in nickel libraries, but come forward in the respectable dress of cloth cover and often with the recommendation of a high price and a well known author's name. 'These are the books that teach girls to judge character by the amount of wealth and social distinction possessed by the heroine and her friends, to think more of dress than ideals, to gossip, slander, and deal each other petty blows; to be dishonest and even dishonorable; to think lightly of white lies, and of deliberate untruth told for an ostensibly noble purpose. Such books, like the little foxes that spoil the vines, destroy fine character even more quickly than do the stories that bear unmistakable marks of evil and crime.

"The 'Elsie Books'" "Another harmful kind, perhaps best represented by the Elsie Dinsmore books, is one which the burden too often is painful mental suffering over small sins and misunderstandings. Such books tend to give a morbid, unwholesome trend to a girl's thoughts and give her a wrong outlook upon life.

"I wonder how many readers of this article have wept briny tears over the Elsie books? I remember one incident in particular when Elsie was asked by her father to play the piano on Sunday and she refused to do so because she thought it was a sin to play on Sunday. Her father insisted that she obey him. She was determined not to do so and she sat on the piano stool till she fainted from exhaustion. The story was told in such a harrowing manner that I admired Elsie's willingness to suffer for conscience sake and hated her father for his 'cruelty,' whereas I should have despised Elsie as a little prig and admired her father for his good sense.

"Nowadays, there are any number of good, wholesome stories that girls like; but there are also an almost equal number that ought to be avoided like poison. Some interesting girls' stories will be on exhibit at the public library during Safety First Juvenile Book Week."

Many a man's phenomenal success is a surprise to himself.

Court Adjourns

Peter La Due of Monroe county was given a decision in circuit court Saturday afternoon by Judge Higbee in the foreclosure proceedings instituted against George La Due, and the Brittingham-Hixon company. The suit involved property in Monroe county and has been before the circuit court here before.

Court was adjourned by Judge Higbee following the La Due decision, until Friday, Nov. 26, when the case of Wealthy Jane Wisdom versus James Wisdom will be heard. The defendant is charged with using undue influence in the settlement of the estate of Mrs. Wealthy Jane Wisdom's husband, of which he is executrix. The charges are made by a number of heirs to the estate.

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store and eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time—they act thoroughly and are harmless.

SPOTLIGHTS

CYRIL MAUDE AND "GRUMPY"

A performance which will be sure to captivate every patron of the La Crosse theater on Tuesday, November 30, will be that of the splendid English actor, Mr. Cyril Maude, who appears in this city for the first time in his American career, presenting his tremendously successful play, "Grumpy," an attraction which has been eagerly anticipated by our theatergoers for the past year. This engagement directly follows Mr. Maude's second presentation of "Grumpy" on Broadway.

The play was first produced two years ago at Wallack's, where it ran for a full season, following which Mr. Maude took it to London, and at the New theater there, the delightful comedy received an endorsement of public approval equalling the one that has been its portion in New York. Last season he brought his company back to America and divided the theatrical year between Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and a few Canadian cities, and is now upon his first extensive tour of the United States.

The play is a combination of comedy and polite melodrama, with the former element in the ascendancy. The central figure is that of an octogenarian criminal barrister of London, at the time of the story retired from active practice, and domiciled in a charming English country home. "Grumpy" is very old and his faithful Ruddyock thinks that he cannot go to bed without help. Suddenly the occasion calls for all his old powers turned into new channels to protect the welfare of his great-granddaughter and the man she is to marry. A $450,000 diamond has been stolen, and the only real clue to the thief is a camellia. The astuteness with which "Grumpy," jumping into the situation, and following it rapidly to

WEAK, AILING CHILDREN

Made Well and Strong by Simple Remedy.

Here is another letter that has just come to our attention, showing the power of Vinol to build up health and strength for weak, puny, ailing children.

W. A. Smith of Shanesville, Ohio, says:—"My little child was puny, weak and ailing, could not rest at night and would not eat. I learned about Vinol and tried it, and within a week noticed an improvement. The child's appetite improved, it slept well, strength and health were soon built up. We think Vinol is excellent for weak, puny children."

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, containing beef peptone, which creates an appetite, enriches the blood and creates strength, children love to take it.

We ask all parents of weak, sickly, delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol with the understanding that we will return your money if it fails to benefit your little ones.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Strengthened by La Crosse Experiences

Kidney disease is too dangerous to neglect. At the first sign of backache, headache, dizziness or urinary disorders you should give the weakened kidneys prompt attention. Eat little meat, take things easier and use a reliable kidney tonic. There's no other kidney medicine so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills. La Crosse people rely on them. Here's one of the many statements from La Crosse people:

G. A. Phelps, 1402 Jackson St., La Crosse, says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble and backache that generally goes with it. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and had great relief."

"BIRTH OF NATION"

PLAYED BY DIXON

IN SUNDAY SERMAN

to avenge a woman's honor. Their purpose was to suppress the negro by every form of violence, such as burning houses, schools and churches and by cruelly beating and murdering defenseless men. They were properly suppressed by United States troops in 1875.

"Booker T. Washington fits right into this story on the other side. Though not literally in the story or on the screen, he was in it from first to last. He must have been born about 1857, as a slave. He never knew when or where or who his father was. Until he went to school at about ten years of age he had no name but Booker and then as he heard other boys giving in two names he called himself Washington to be like the others. Until that time he never had any clothes but a tow shirt, never sat at a table, used knife or other table utensils or slept in a bed as we know that article. Working with his step-father in West Virginia he heard of Hampton school and decided to go, not knowing where it was or how far. He walked much of the 500 miles. He slept under a sidewalk in Richmond as he was working for money to take him the rest of the journey. By the most extreme application and self-denial he finished the course at Hampton, taught a year at Malden, W. Virginia, went back to Hampton as a teacher, stayed two years and in 1881 went to Tuskegee and with $2,000 for teaching and not a dollar for help of any kind started school in a tumbled down Methodist church and a horse shed.

Raised Living Standards
"He found the negroes of that region living in one room huts, living exclusively on hog and hominy, their only cooking utensils, two skillets, no beds or other furniture in the cabins, water and soap, as articles to be applied to the body externally, unthought of.

"To think of those same homes transformed into such homes as are common among the white people generally is to think of the miracle wrought in one generation by Washington and others like him.

"The negro schools are not chiefly concerned with Greek, Latin and embroidery as some seem to suppose, out at Tuskegee thirty useful trades are taught. The students make or raise practically everything used at the school. The school owns over 2,000 acres of land worked as a splendid farm. They have $2,000,000 worth of property.

"It is not strange that Theodore Roosevelt thought Washington one of the most useful men America ever produced. Tuskegee cannot furnish half the men requested for responsible positions in the south.

"The Birth of a Nation" was a splendid spectacle, entertaining and in part instructive but in large part misrepresenting the negro. Booker T. Washington was the great apostle of an oppressed race and the splendid success of his tireless devotion is a noble inspiration to any American boy, white or black.

000 pays $1,450 less for having its property assessed, and no city in the state is spread over so much territory as Superior for its size.

"This is not the only instance in which La Crosse outranks all other cities in the state on the question of salary.

Work Decreases
"At the present time the work of the assessors is not near so heavy as it was ten years ago, for the reason that practically all of the personal property outside of the merchants' stocks has been exempt by the legislature.

Charges Partisanship
"At the last meeting of the council I made the assertion that the assessors were charged for political reasons. I made that statement deliberately and I re-new it notwithstanding the denial of Alderman Roellig. Here is the record.

"McCauley was a democrat with fourteen years of experience as an assessor, and he was conceded to be the best assessor La Crosse ever had. When the roll was called the following aldermen, all republicans, voted for Miller, the republican: Grover, Rice, Roellig, Schams, E. O. Schulze, Art Schulze, Smith, Storandt, Strauss, Weigel. Worth and all those that voted for McCauley were democrats except Funk and Kempter. When the vote was taken on Assessor Winter it was the same thing, republicans for Winter, republican, and democrats for his opponent, who was a democrat or independent."

SPEAKS CONVOCATION
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 22. — The Rev. Jenkin Lloyd-Jones, Chicago's peace advocate and co-worker with David Starr Jordan, will address an all university convocation in the gymnasium at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. His subject will be "Above All—Humanity."

WISE WORDS
A Physician on Food.

A western physician has views about food. He says:

"I have always believed that the duty of the physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health especially by hygienic and dietetic laws.

"With such a feeling as to my duty I take great pleasure in saying, that, in my own experience and also from personal observation, I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence.

"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts. To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach especially at breakfast to start the machinery of the human system on the day's work.

"In cases of indigestion I know that a complete breakfast can be made of Grape-Nuts and cream; and I think it is necessary not to overload the stomach at the morning meal. I also know the great value of Grape-Nuts when the stomach is too weak to digest other food.

"This is written after an experience of more than 20 years treating all manner of chronic and acute diseases, and the letter is voluntary on my part without any request for it."

WOMEN CAN SAVE $5 IN AN HOUR

Says gasoline dry cleans dresses, coats, silks, gloves, draperies

You will never again pay enormous prices for dry cleaning after trying this. Any woman can clean and renew the appearance of yokes, ribbons, satins, laces, silks, furs, shirtwaists, Swiss lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

You would have to pay $5 at a dry cleaning establishment for the cleaning which can be done at home as easily as laundering. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap, then a large dishpan or wash boiler completes your dry cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

BABY CONTENDERS IN THE TRIBUNE'S SHOWER OF GOLD ELECTION

Watch for the pictures of the Tribune's "Shower of Gold" babies each day. Three more little faces will appear tomorrow and each day thereafter for several weeks.

CORDIA E. NESS

If real infant beauty only counted in The Tribune's baby race for gold and glory, this little tot would undoubtedly carry away some of the honors easily. The child in question is little Miss Cordia E. Ness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ness, who reside at 1026 South Fifth street, La Crosse. Baby Ness is decidedly in this race, as you will note by her vote in this issue of the paper. 6,500 sounds like action, doesn't it. Mr. and Mrs. Ness are working hard to make Cordia a winner.

MISS FERN LUND

Here is a little lady that is going to be in the blue ribbon class in the Tribune's baby race for Gold and Glory. This little tot is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lund, who reside at 716 St. James street, La Crosse. Both Daddy and Mother Lund are doing all in their power to push forward the campaign of Little Fern and they have a number of ardent supporters, who are going to back them up in their efforts with subscriptions to the Tribune. Watch the increase in Fern's standing in the daily reports from now on.

MASTER VERNON WEBER

Here is a little man that is going to be a real contender for that Gold to be given away by the Tribune. Little Vernon Weber is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Weber, who reside at 1307 Redfield St. La Crosse. Both Mr. and Mrs. Weber are active for their little son and they are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts. Daddy Weber is a brakeman on the C. B. & Q. out of La Crosse and his fellow workmen have promised allegiance to him in this campaign.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO ERNEST GORSUCH

A relapse from an attack of pneumonia, from which he was thought to have recovered, caused the death at midnight Saturday of Ernest Gorsuch, joint proprietor with Jack McKibbin of the Fountain Inn, at 109-111 South Fifth street. Mr. Gorsuch, or "Ernie" as he was better known, contracted pneumonia three months ago, and was removed to one of the local hospitals. Three weeks ago, he left the hospital, apparently recovered, but he suffered a relapse last Thursday and was again removed to the St. Francis hospital. He sank steadily until the end came at midnight Saturday.

Gorsuch was thirty-five years of age. For the past year he has been joint owner of the Fountain Inn, with Jack McKibbin.

Funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival of his father at 6:05 tonight from his home at St. Joseph, Mo. The body is now at the undertaking parlors of Tetley, Sletten and Dahl, and will lie in state at the Eagle's lodge rooms tomorrow from 2 until 7:30 o'clock.

BIKE RIDERS EVEN UP

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Furious early hour sprinting by Lawrence and Hanley today put them even up with the leaders in the six day race at the Coliseum. Nine teams were in front and tied at 7 o'clock, having covered 1,174 miles in the fifty-seven hours. The former record was 1,172. Grimm and Sullivan dropped out during the night because of illness.

The following teams were trailing: Lawson-Root, 1,173 miles and nine laps; Ryan-Thomas and Ohrt-Madonna, tied at 1,173 miles and eight laps; Rudi Russe-Young, 1,173 miles and seven laps.

CENTRAL HELD TO 0-0 BY LA CROSSE HIGH

RED AND BLACK GOAL NEVER ENDANGERED FIELD SEA OF MUD

PLAY IS WITHIN ENEMY TERRITORY FOR MOST OF GAME

La Crosse Fails to Win the Game when Layman Misses Placement Kick in the Last Quarter

On a field which was soon trampled into mud, preventing any brilliant runs, La Crosse outplayed St. Paul Central high Saturday during the entire game but were unable to score and the game ended in a scoreless tie. Not once was the La Crosse goal endangered, in fact the play was never inside their twenty-five yard line. After a moment of fright on the first kickoff when a St. Paul man recovered the ball on the La Crosse 35-yard line, Horne's men immediately demonstrated their superiority by rushing the ball to the Saints' 20-yard line only to be held for downs. Here for the first time was shown the La Crosse need for a drop kicker. Any number of times La Crosse worked the ball down to within easy striking distance of the goal only to be held or lose the ball on a fumble or to have a pass intercepted. Layman's boot was tried for a goal from placement in the fourth quarter but this department of the game has never been as successful as dropkicking and he was unable to send the ball through the bars. St. Paul remains champions of Minnesota and the Dakotas and La Crosse remains in the running for the Wisconsin state championship.

The northerners, though outplayed at both offense and defense, put up a scrappy aggregation and showed plenty of pep and knowledge of the game. On the first kick off the old trick of kicking the ball ten yards was tried, any man onside to recover. The ball went but eight yards, however, and they were forced to kick over, this time sending it a good distance.

Colee, Central's fullback, was a veritable wonder. Besides being the only player who ever took the ball more than five yards through the La Crosse team, he was a kicker whose punts easily averaged 45 yards and his running back and tackling were always sensational. He was easily the Saints' star. The rest of their backfield, while far from mediocre, was not able to gain consistently.

For La Crosse, Kulczynski and Hackner played fine games on the defense while Blatter and Bott gained the most ground on the offense. In the line, also, La Crosse had the advantage. Cordozo, who was expected to break up many of the Red and Black's plays, was held helpless by Bunge, who is at least 30 pounds lighter.

Statistics

To show how greatly LaCrosse outplayed the visitors, a few statistics are given. During the entire game St. Paul made their downs three times, one each quarter with the exception of the second. They were forced to kick eighteen times. La Crosse made first down thirteen times, ten times more than the visitors, showing clearly that they out-rushed their opponents. They were forced to kick eleven times and in this department they were outclassed by Colee's powerful right toe. Had Roellig, Feinberg or Zeisler been able to put as much drive into their punts as he did the team would, in all probability, have scored. Their first downs went for naught against the fullback's kicking for he sent the ball from ten to twenty yards farther than they were forced to run it back a good way to make up for the lost distance.

Both teams tried the aerial route four times with one working for each, La Crosse making twenty yards and St. Paul three yards on the passes. Of the others La Crosse intercepted one and sent two of their own into the waiting arms of a Centralite. The rest were incomplete. Although the ball was very slippery, fumbles were very rare. Penalties were placed on each side about evenly and were few in number.

The Play
La Crosse won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. St. Paul kicked off to Kulczynski, who fumbled on his 35-yard line. Two line drives failed to gain and Colee attempted a pass which Bott intercepted. A steady march began. Roellig made 5, Kulczynski 4, Roellig 3, Blatter 20, Bott 8, and Blatter 3, taking the ball to the Saints' 18-yard line. Bott slipped and felling, losing two. Feinberg chose to pass but Kulczynski, running out, slipped and the pass was incomplete, giving St. Paul the ball. After two plays, Colee made the only first down of the quarter for St. Paul with twelve yards covered. La Crosse was penalized for holding. Two plays failed and Colee kicked. La Crosse again began their march but another penalty of 15 yards forced them to kick. The quarter continued in this manner, both teams kicking often with the play entirely in St. Paul's territory. The quarter ended with the ball in La Crosse's possession on St. Paul's 30-yard line.

Second Quarter
The second quarter was a repetition of the first with La Crosse having the advantage, although there were times after a punt when it looked as if Colee would get away but he was always brought down before he could even get out of his own territory. Central did not make a single first down this period. La Crosse worked their only pass, Feinberg to Gerrard, for twenty yards. It looked as if Gerrard might get away but "ever present" Colee pulled him down. Gerard and Feinberg were injured towards the end of the period and were taken out.

Third Period
Immediately after the kickoff in the second half, Colee made the longest St. Paul gain of the day going around right end for thirty yards. H. Reget recovered a fumble then, however, and La Crosse again breathed easy. Colee was often forced to punt from within his ten yard line.

Fourth Quarter
The fourth period began with the ball in St. Paul's possession on their 20-yard line. After a first play Hackner dashed through and blocked a punt off Colee's foot. Both men rushed for the ball and Colee recovered on his 4-yard line. He then got away a punt from behind his own goal which Roellig fumbled on a difficult catch. A Central man recovered. Colee kicked to Feinberg, who returned 35 yards through a broken field. Layman tried a goal from placement on the 30-yard line but failed. The ball was taken out to the twenty yard line where Bunge fell on a fumble. Layman made four yards around right but on the next play Jones intercepted a pass. Colee kicked to Bott, who returned ten. Johnson intercepted another pass giving Colee another chance to send the ball down the field out of danger. La Crosse brought the ball back to St. Paul's 30-yard line, when the game ended.

BADGERS TRIMMED BY MINNESOTA IN CLOSING CONTEST

Juneau's Men Get Field Goal But That Is End of Scoring Proclivities

BUCK IS WISCONSIN STAR
Big Tackle Is Half of Team with His Great Bolstering of the Machine

MADISON, Nov. 22.—Wisconsin met defeat before 15,000 football rooters here Saturday afternoon, going down before the well oiled Minnesota machine by a score of 20 to 3.

Wisconsin was the first to score, getting three points in the first period when Simpson booted the ball through the posts from the twelve yard line.

Bierman starred for Minnesota, while the two Simpsons and Taylor starred for the Badgers.

First Quarter
Capt. Buck won the toss for Wisconsin. Quist kicked off to G. Simpson on Wisconsin's thirty yard line. The Badger returned five yards. E. Simpson made six yards through left tackle. E. Simpson punted to Long, on Minnesota's twenty-five yard line. Long returned five yards. Wyman made two yards through left guard. Bierman slipped on an attempted end run and failed to gain. Bierman made three yards through right guard. Quist punted to Taylor, who was downed on Wisconsin's forty yard line. Kreis fumbled, but recovered on Wisconsin's thirty-three yard line. E. Simpson punted to Johnson, who fumbled on Minnesota's twenty-three yard line, where a Wisconsin man fell on the ball. On a series of line bucks Wisconsin carried the ball to the eight yard line. E. Simpson made a place kick from the Gophers' twenty yard line. Score: Wisconsin, 3; Minnesota, 0.

Quist kicked off to Stavrum on Wisconsin's twenty-five yard line and he returned twenty-five yards. Bierman intercepted a forward pass on Wisconsin's forty-five yard line and ran three yards. Wisconsin punted to Minnesota's twenty-five yard line. On line smashes Minnesota carried the ball to Wisconsin's twenty-four yard line. After an exchange of punts the quarter ended with the ball in Minnesota's possession on her own forty yard line. Score: Wisconsin, 3; Minnesota, 0.

Second Quarter
Johnson made four yards around right end. On line bucks, making from one to three yards at a play, the Gophers took the ball to the Badgers' twenty-six yard line. Two attempts at the line failed to gain, and Minnesota lost the ball on the twenty-five yard line. Wisconsin punted to Minnesota's forty yard line. Minnesota worked the first successful forward pass of the game for a twenty-five yard gain. Taylor again intercepted a forward pass for Wisconsin on his fifteen yard line and ran fifteen yards.

With line smashes Minnesota carried the ball to Wisconsin's six yard line. Long was knocked out. Bierman made three yards. Wyman went to the one yard line. Long failed to gain. Wisconsin's ball. Wisconsin punted from behind the goal and Minnesota got the ball on the Badgers' seven yard line. Bierman got over for a touchdown and Baston kicked goal. Score: Minnesota, 7; Wisconsin, 3.

After Wisconsin twice kicked off out of bounds, Minnesota got the ball in scrimmage on her forty yard line. First half ended with Minnesota holding the ball on Wisconsin's forty-seven yard line. Score: Minnesota 7; Wisconsin, 3.

Third Quarter
Wisconsin kicked off to Minnesota's five yard line. Line smashes took the ball to the three yard line. Wyman went to one yard line and Bierman made a touchdown. Baston kicked goal. Score: Minnesota, 14; Wisconsin, 3.

In the third quarter the Badger defense was not strong enough to stop the attacks of the hard ploughing Gopher backfield. Bierman was the whole thing for Minnesota and gained repeatedly around the Wisconsin left end and over Buck.

Wisconsin opened up with some forwards, but Minnesota got the ball and marched to Badgers' fifteen yard line, where Wisconsin held. Score: Minnesota, 20; Wisconsin, 3.

Fourth Quarter

The Badgers made a wonderful defense at the beginning of the last quarter, but Bierman went over from

Minnesota And Illini Tied For Big 9 Honors

Both Teams Have Perfect Records but Suckers Have Tied Two Games to Gophers' One

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The western collegiate conference football season ended on Saturday with the championship honors divided by Illinois and Minnesota. Both the Gophers and Illini came through the season undefeated and both downed their strongest rivals, Wisconsin and Chicago. In their own game, they played a 6 to 6 tie. Minnesota crushed the Badgers on Saturday, 20 to 3, against Illinois 17 to 3 against them; Illinois defeated Chicago 10 to 0, as compared to the Gophers' 20 to 1 victory over the Maroons, so comparative scores give the Minnesotans a small advantage. Again, the Illini, with a weak team in the field, were held to a tie by Ohio State early in the season, while Minnesota has a clean record of victories except for the draw at Urbana.

EASTERN SEASON NEAR CLOSE WITH CORNELL IN LEAD

Ithacans Picked for Champs Although Pitt Has an Unbroken String of Victories

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Eastern football faced just two hearty gasps today before giving up the ghost for the season. The Cornell-Pennsylvania clash Thursday, and the Army and Navy game Saturday remain to be played before the flock of dolesters turn loose with annual all-American selections.

Cornell today appeared to have the best claim to the eastern title, provided, of course, that the Ithacans are able to defeat Pennsylvania. Pitt, however, will be claiming the honor for many moons to come, for the Pitt squad has not been beaten to date. Pitt plays Penn State Saturday. No Pitt-Cornell game was arranged this year and the schedules of the two universities did not include the same teams.

Cornell's victory over Harvard furnishes a strong claim to the title for the Ithacans in view of the Crimson's marked superiority over other eastern elevens. The same old spirit and spectacular brilliance of previous service clashes is to be on hand again at the Polo grounds next Saturday. Both Army and Navy coaches announced today that the drive in training will continue right up to Thursday morning when the final drills will take place.

HARVARD TROUNCES BULLDOG AS MAHAN PLAYS LAST GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22.—Administering one of the most overwhelming defeats in the history of the Harvard-Yale classics, the Crimson vanquished the Blue 41 to 0 Saturday afternoon in the Harvard stadium.

Capt. Eddie Mahan wound up his football in a blaze of glory, playing by far the greatest game of his long and spectacular career. Of the forty-one points tallied by Harvard Mahan scored twenty-nine.

Four of the six touchdowns were made by Mahan, and the Harvard leader kicked five goals.

DOYLE LEADER AT BAT IN NATIONAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Larry Doyle, New York Giants' second sacker, was the slugging kid in the National league this year. The season's official averages show Larry leading the league with 320, five points ahead of Luderus, of the Phillies.

Honus Wagner was way behind his stride, finishing forty-fourth with an average of .274. Max Carey of Pittsburgh was the best thief, with a total of 36. The Cubs made their lone bid for fame through Bob Fischer, who annexed thirty sacrifices. Gabby Cravath topped home run honors with a total of 24.

HOPPE AND COCHRAN TIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran, youngster from Iowa, were tied today for honors in the first professional handicap 18.2 billiard tournament. Cochran had been playing with the advantage of a 200 handicap while Hoppe has started from scratch. Cochran faced his hardest match today with Yamada, the Japanese. Hoppe meets Sutton tonight.

Manager Announces That All Who Are Active to End Election Will Be Rewarded

Today the great Movie of The Babies begins. Look at Page Six. Three little candidates in this Shower of Gold Election. Some politicians, these young Americans! Have YOU sent in the baby's picture? Hurry up. We're going to publish the pictures of a few of the Golden Babies in this Shower of Gold every day, and YOUR baby is just as eligible to this Gallery of Baby Art as anybody's.

The Election Manager, F. K. Rambo and his assistants, are to be found in the TRIBUNE office each evening until eight o'clock and they invite calls by the parents, friends or anyone interested in the fortunes of any of the babies entered in this great race. If it is inconvenient to call and there is any information you desire, just use the telephone or drop a postal card to the Shower of Gold department and a representative will call upon you.

out the best and easiest way to do it. Let us take the schedule for a one-year subscription by mail:

One new subscriber, $3.00—18,000 votes.

One old subscriber, $3.00—9,000 votes.

The proportion is the same in all the outside districts and in the city, and when you have tried it out thoroughly you will find that it takes about the same amount of time and effort to get an old subscriber to renew his subscription as to get a new subscriber, and the new subscriber pays you twice as many votes.

Think how fast you can pile up votes for the baby at the rate of 18,000 votes for one new subscription! Ten of them mean 180,000 votes. YOU can get them in ONE DAY. But, of course, there are off days in everything. DON'T BE DISCOURAGED because of a bad day or two now and then. Our best professional solicitors, men who consider ten subscribers an average day's work, sometimes fall down for a day or two and get nothing. Don't let a bad day scare you. Every other contestant is going to have his or her bad days. Get up and go at them again. They'll come. The thought of the Shower of Gold falling upon your baby will get them. The TRIBUNE is one of the very best newspapers in the Northwest, and they want a paper, anyway.

Send for subscription books. If you have had none, send at once and get them. If you have used up your books, or if they will not last long, send in and get more. Address the Shower of Gold Department, care of the TRIBUNE, La Crosse, Wis.

Send in your subscriptions as fast as you get them. Upon receiving them the Election Manager will immediately return to you a ballot which is your receipt for the money and which entitles you to cast the number of votes it bears, for your baby's credit. Get the papers going to your subscribers as quickly as possible. The papers stir up interest and help you to get other subscribers.

Please note that the last twenty-five-vote coupon will appear in the TRIBUNE Nov. 24. On delivering these you have three days of grace. The last twenty-five-vote coupon must be voted not later than the evening of Nov. 27. After that, each day until the termination of the election, a ten-vote coupon will appear in every issue of the TRIBUNE.

Remember, this election has something for everybody who honestly tries. For every baby in whose behalf an active campaign is waged throughout the election, until the polls are closed, there will be an attractive prize.

The tongue has more to do with honor than the conscience usually has.

Each coupon appearing in the TRIBUNE to and including November 24th will be good for 25 votes, the coupon appearing on and after that date will be good for but ten votes. All ballots good for 25 votes are void after November 27th.

No person will be permitted to buy papers in bulk for the purpose of clipping coupons, but there are no restrictions as to the sources from which you may gather the votes. Interest all of your friends, relatives, neighbors, etc., in saving the coupon ballots for you or sending them to the TRIBUNE in the name of your favorite baby.

Votes on Subscriptions. Votes will also be given for subscriptions to the TRIBUNE and this will be the MAIN ISSUE of this great race. Subscription books may be had upon application to the Election Manager by the parents, relatives, friends or anyone else interested in a baby's campaign. If not convenient to call, drop a postal card or phone the TRIBUNE office and the Election Manager or one of his assistants will call upon you.

No subscriptions will be accepted for less than ten weeks by carrier and six months by mail. For a new subscriber for ten weeks, by carrier, we will give 5,000 votes; for renewal of an old subscription for ten weeks will give 2,500 votes. For a new subscriber for one year, by carrier, we will give 18,000 votes. For a renewal of a subscription for one year, by carrier, we will give 9,000 votes. All subscriptions upon which votes are issued must be strictly PAID IN ADVANCE.

Cut coupons out neatly. Do not tear out. Pin or tie them together securely. When so arranged it is necessary to write the baby's name on the first coupon only. When casting coupons for a baby whose name already appears in the list, it is not necessary for you to sign your name and address to the ballot.

No employee of the TRIBUNE will be permitted to enter his or her baby in the contest.

We reserve the right to reject any undesirable or objectionable name at any time or any person detected in unfair methods.

This Shower of Gold Election closes December 22nd. Call, write, or phone for further information, night or day.

In case of a tie vote at the end of the contest, the award in question will be equally divided.

No two candidates will be permitted to double up. Votes are absolutely not transferable. If you drop out of the race you lose all.

Subscriptions may be taken to start any time. If Mr. Jones wants to help you and notwithstanding that his subscription is already paid in advance secure a renewal and we will date the subscription ahead from the date of the expiration of the present subscription.

You may take subscriptions from anywhere and everywhere in the United States without increase of the regular subscription price. Because your baby is a contestant in District No. 1, you are by no means limited to that district as a field of endeavor.

ALL BOOKS AND RECORDS CONCERNING THIS CONTEST WILL BE THROWN OPEN TO THE INSPECTION OF THE PUBLIC IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE CLOSE OF THIS CONTEST. EVERYONE GETS A SQUARE DEAL AND WE WANT THEM TO KNOW IT. MERIT, NOT MONEY, WINS. Address all communications to

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so softly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or simply face. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look! 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

S. S. S. Greatest Blood Remedy Gives Results When Others Fail

Nature's Remedy For Blood Troubles.

The purifying and curative properties of Nature's great remedy have made "S. S. S. for the Blood" a household name. Thousands today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood purifier. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, which possess cleansing and healing ingredients. You cannot be well when your blood is impure; you lack strength and energy natural with health; your complexion becomes pale and sallow; your vitality is weakened. When waste or refuse matter, which Nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system, it is absorbed into the blood and boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin appear. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character. All skin diseases and eruptions pass away, and the smooth clear skin, glowing with health, shows that the body is being nourished by rich, pure blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, all are deep-seated blood disorders, and for their treatment nothing equals S. S. S. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. If yours is a peculiar case write S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.
